

MOON FESTIVAL 2019

NIGHT SCHOOL
CREATIVE PRODUCERS

Would you like to gain skills in planning and programming events? Do you want to learn how to hire artists and performers? Are you aged between 18-25? Become a Creative Producer for Moon Festival!

What is Moon Festival?

Moon Festival celebrates people's relationship with the Moon and coincides with the 50th anniversary of the first Moon Landing. From astrophysics to mythology, politics to poetry, Moon Festival draws on our eternal curiosity for the Moon to bring people together for a week of events in July 2019.

What is the Night School?

The Night School is Moon Festival's creative skills training programme, encouraging young Londoners to shape and appreciate their city at night. To help us deliver the festival, we're looking to recruit dynamic young trainees to take on the role of creative producers. You will receive training from Emergency Exit Arts, one of Britain's pioneering outdoor arts companies, gain experience for your CV and contribute to the first ever Moon Festival. Travel expenses will be covered and guidance and support will be offered throughout.

How can I get involved?

This year's Moon Festival wants to creatively celebrate how different people and cultures relate to the Moon by putting on a nighttime party in Woolwich. We are looking to appoint 10 young creative producers to help commission artists and performers to perform at this new and exciting event. Workshops and training will take place across 3 Saturdays and some evenings in May and June.

- Learn how to commission creative outcomes
- Design innovative events at a brand new festival
- Work directly with artists and industry professionals to programme a series of outdoors events
- Get noticed by industry leaders

To apply send a 300 word email or 2 minute video to Jen at jen@moonfestival.co.uk outlining why you want to take part in this project and what experience you can offer by April 17th.
